MOTOROLA RADIO CHARGER

DESCRIPTION

At the start of a shift you need the reassurance knowing your Motorola radio is fully charged and not going to die on you. This can be a risk with low quality chargers that use cheap components. They can either take a long time to fully recharge a radio or their charging ability depletes rapidly from use. You won't face either of these problems with this charger for Motorola radios.

This Motorola charger features a special microprocessor that can fill a battery like lightning. It also has overcharge protection that halts the fast charging mode once the battery reaches 90 percent capacity. This protects the battery and will increase its longevity. The charger then switches to trickle mode until the radio battery is fully topped up ready for action.
